

	Foreword
Marta ZIELIŃSKA	6	Darwin's theory and the humanities
	Essays
Ryszard KOZIÓŁEK	11	The Darwin complex
Krzysztof KŁOSIŃSKI	33	Literary Darwinism
Krzysztof UNIŁOWSKI	52	Do genres and conventions evolve (today)?
Gabriela ŚWITEK	64	Darwin, Darwinism and the 19 th -century visual culture
	Discussions and Analyses
Maciej SOSNOWSKI	83	Dialectics versus a weak thought
Piotr ŚNIEDZIEWSKI	98	"À quoi bon écrire tout cela?", or, Stanisław Brzozowski's Memoirs now in French
Marta ZIELIŃSKA	113	An American biography of Adam Mickiewicz and its author
Tul'si Kamila BHAMBRY	118	Reading Gombrowicz with Deleuze Trans. A. Kluba
	Presentations
Gillian BEER	123	"Pleasure like a tragedy": Imagination and the material world Transl. M. Mrozik
Brian BOYD	145	On the origin of stories. Retrospect and prospects: Evolution, literature, criticism Trans. T. Markiewka

		Interpretations
Wacław FORAJTER, Paweł TOMCZOK	165	The hare, the fox, and the people. A novel by Adolf Dygasiński
Krystyna KOZIOŁEK	182	Absence of knowledge. The case of Wacław Berent's Nauczyciel
		Positions
Monika BAKKE	193	Animal studies: from activism to academia and back?
Justyna TABASZEWSKA	205	Threats or opportunities? Ecocriticism – a preliminary survey
		Propositions
Mirosław KOCUR	221	Peripersonal space in Paleolithic caves
Wiesław PRZYBYŁA	238	Cultural semantics of animals
Piotr WEISER	253	"If it crosses the threshold, the response is laughter..." Antisemitism as sniffing out
		Investigations
Krzysztof OBREMSKI	262	"Contiguity" as the paralogic of pure nonsense poetry
Arkadiusz ŻYCHLIŃSKI	280	The head full of voices. Pessoa and Dennett on the self
		Obituaries
Izabela JAROSIŃSKA	293	"A song is sung not just about anyone..." Professor Alina Witkowska (1928-2011)
	296	Authors' Biographical Notes